GREG,
Hi! And why haven't you written? Well, I'm prepared to forgive you. There's a great picture of me on pg 129. I hope to see ya soon really. I missed ya. Nobody quite meets your standard of weirdness.
HOPE to see ya,
Love,
Laura Crites

Greg,
Sorry I missed your visit but you know how it goes. I really was looking forward to seeing you. Oh well!!!
Hope your year is going great. I'm O.K. Lots of things going on here but I'm on 1/2 days so I don't see much people. Hope you like Denver.
Good Luck on everything
Love,
Rob

Dear Greg,
I sure do miss you. You always had a kind word to say when I was down. I miss your happy spirit. Oh well enough that. I sincerely hope you are happy with you the best of everything.
God be with you.
Love always,
Tracy

The Alamo

It is a still and peaceful morning as I stroll through the courtyard of this old mission. The sun is just rising over the edge of the chapel, and its rays gleam outward from the crudely shaped stucco rock.

Bowie High School

The ground is frosted with a fresh layer of morning dew, while a cool breeze dances across the front lawn of the large, boxy, brick structure. The sun is still behind the building, but its rays shoot outward like a peacock fans his tail. I get the feeling the rays are coming from within the school, each one saying, "Look at me; look who I am. I'm from James Bowie High School!

Though the edges have been chipped and cracked,
this grand fortress has withstood
great stress.
I lean against a battered cannon and stop to think about the devoted,
dedicated and sincere men who have struggled through the last several days defending this battered mission.
Our creator has truly guided us through these days of turmoil.
What will become of us if we are able to overcome
the enemy forces and become the victors? Will we be free from dictative governing powers? Yes! Yes, only then can we choose our own leaders, build our own towns with schools, churches and farms and expand from tattered missions to beautiful cathedrals.

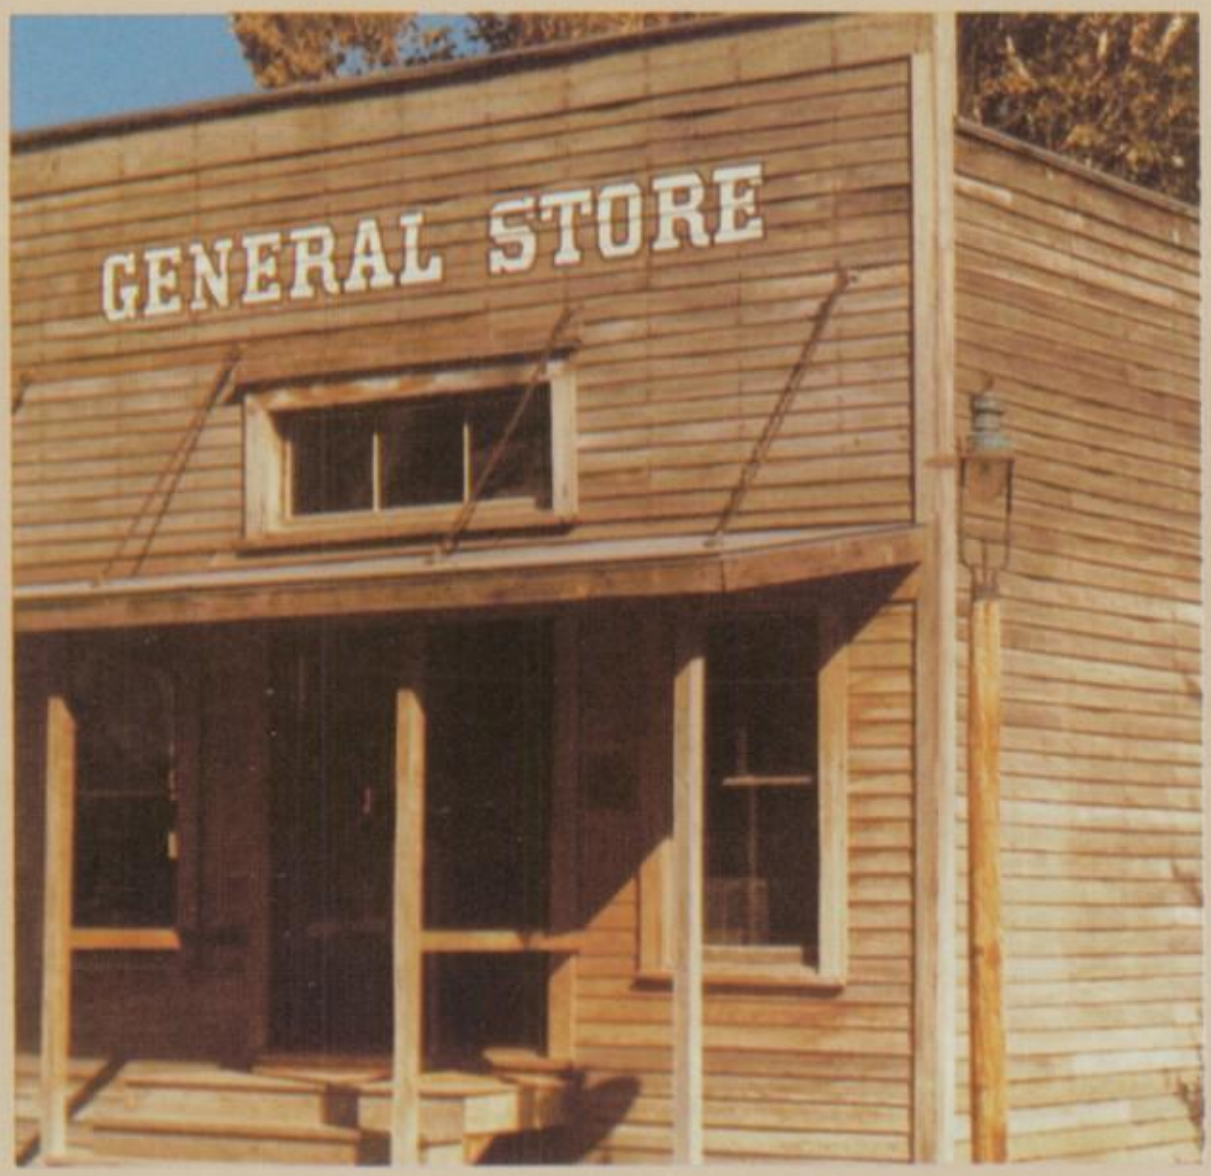
"Give me a chance, and let those who are a part of me, defend my name with dignity."

As I prop against a young oak tree, I stare through the brick walls and see the many dedicated and devoted people who walk the halls each day, trying to make classes on time, running that last lap with record speed, striving with teammates for a victory, and laughing with friends. Yes, it takes true individuals to do that.



Yes! We will be the victors in the end. We will be able to say, "We have struggled to be recognized and we have won!"

James Bowie
1836

But when will we be recognized? Those long gruelling practices and rehearsals will one day pay off.

We will be the victors in the end. We will be able to say, "We have struggled to be recognized, and James Bowie High School has won!"

jerry griffin

Mr. Jerry Griffin has been with Bowie since its doors opened six years ago, serving as head coach. Coach Griffin is well liked by the students and faculty and a smile can always be seen on his face. Mr. Griffin has devoted many hours of time and effort for the benefit of Bowie and its students. With these qualities and more, the '78-'79 Explorer staff proudly dedicates the annual to Coach Jerry Griffin.

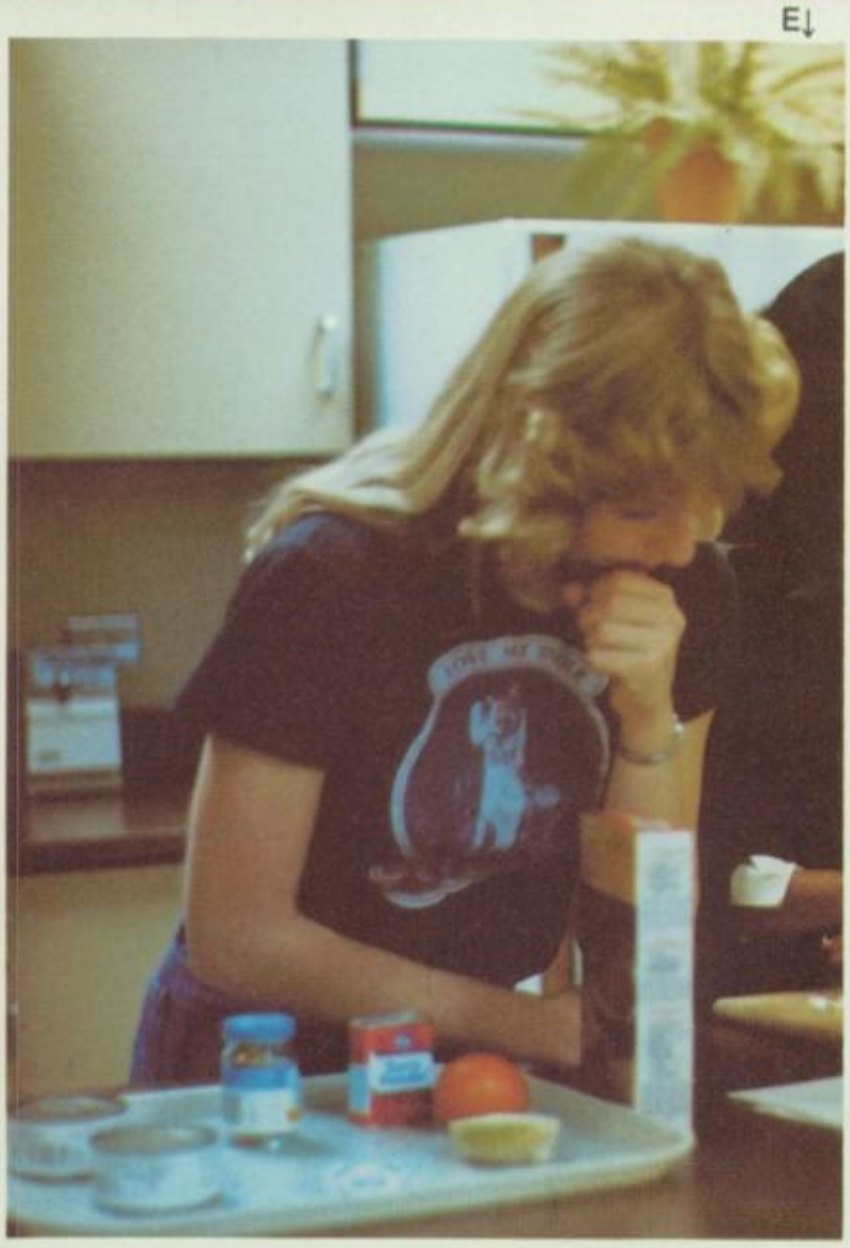
fulfillment of dreams



Officers pursue senior ambition

Thanks to the outstanding leadership of their officers, the Senior Class enjoyed a very successful year. The officers organized meetings and planned get-togethers for their fellow classmates. Leading the '78-'79 Senior Class was Joe Francis, president; Kathy Hunt, vice-president; Laura Davis, secretary; Jan Swaner, treasurer; Greg Boggan, boys' social chairman; and Dede Sharp, girls' social chairman.

Seniors 1979

Senior Council organizes activities

The '78-'79 Senior Council was a very active, hardworking group. While looking forward to graduation, the seniors worked to raise money for their long awaited prom. The Carni-Vol, in which the seniors backed a dunking booth, inspired council members to sponsor many other events during the year. Included in the seniors' activities were selling coupon books, sponsoring the traditional Powder Puff football game, and selling carnations for Valentine's Day.

Members are (from top) Jeff Shipley, Stephen Belauskas, (left to right) Darla Havenstrite, Rick Allison, Beth Donaldson, Nora Ivey, Jill Clagget, Doug Baumgartner, Cathy Dingwerth, Kathy Mills, Buffy Kramer, Heather Lane, DeAnne Thompson, Pam Banks, Chris Suggs, Beth Clemons, Kathleen Snowden, George Thompson, Lisa Patterson, Lynda Rice, Angie Butler, Dhelia McBrinn, Tammy Johnston. Carnations

The Senior Class sold carnations to contribute to the '79 prom expenses. The red, white and pink flowers were sold for distribution on Valentine's Day. Students purchased carnations for friends, teachers and secret admirers with personal messages attached to the flower. During homeroom on Valentine's Day, the carnations were delivered to unsuspecting students and teachers.

Caps and gowns

On October 31, the first phase of senioritis hit Bowie when seniors ordered caps and gowns. Balfour furnished the Class of '79 with the traditional white caps and gowns, with orange and white tassles. Although the orders were taken seven months to the day before graduation, the senior spirit prevailed as classmates wandered through the halls proudly displaying their white Balfour envelopes filled with orders and cap size information.

Spirit

A unifying force existed within the walls of our school — "SPIRIT, let's hear it!" Victories were marked by flying our victory flag. Excitement and thrill echoed through our halls with posters bright and "out of sight." The time and energy of many were exhibited in our school activities and were all brought together as a sign of Bowie's spirit.

Chains

Chains composed a major part of Bowie this year. AFS students sold friendship links to raise money to send a foreign exchange student overseas. Necklaces, bracelets, anklets and chain earrings were abundant at school, and key chains were sold by the Distributive Education Department. And finally, links were sold to demonstrate Bowie's tremendous support at the Homecoming pep rally.

Temporary

Enrollment at JBHS has grown since the school first opened. To accommodate this growth, the first temporary was established this year at the northeast end of the building.

Civics was the main class held there. Students often complained of stuffy classes in the winter and freezing air conditioning in the summer.

Friendships

Friendships help us to gain some of the knowledge we attain. Through friendships we learn to deal with and accept others as they are. These experiences of interaction with others was constant throughout the year at Bowie, as we each made friends that will last forever.

Parking lot

A. J. Foyt, world renowned race car driver, would never have risked his machine in Bowie's parking lot, though oftentimes it resembled a speedway. The number of students driving has increased each year, and the parking spaces have become a luxury to students. Many drivers had no choice but to park in the field adjacent to the school.

Class pictures

On September 19 and 20 pictures were taken for sophomores and juniors, while seniors were taken during the summer. In between combing hair, posing and smiling there was a lot of visiting with friends. School Pictures, Inc. took the faculty and student pictures for the '79 yearbook. Except for seniors posed during the summer, pictures were taken during English classes.

Juniors 1980

Officers build junior momentum

Junior Class Officers were chosen during the '78 spring elections. Candidates entered the race with letters of self-nomination, and they were elected by the members of their class. Serving as the '78-'79 officers were president, Jeff Teare; vice-president, Kathy Kimmy; treasurer, Amy Puempul; secretary, Donna McAdoo; girls' social chairman, Kim Berry; and boys' social chairman, Phil Klinger.

Junior Class Council responds to classmates

The Junior Council combined their efforts with the class officers to raise money in preparation for their 1980 senior prom. At the Carni-Vol, the Junior Class again sponsored the jail, and in April the Council held a candy drive. Other activities were also held as money raising projects. To wish the '79 seniors farewell, they held a Senior Breakfast and recognized senior personalities.

Breakfasts

Bowie's cafeteria line did not begin at noon. Every morning many Bowie students chose to begin the day with hot cinnamon rolls and cold milk in the cafeteria. Swapping homework, cramming for tests, and the usual chitchat was seen and heard, as students enjoyed a light breakfast.

College night

High school students gathered this year at Arlington High for College Night. Representatives from various colleges informed the students of the opportunities offered to them at the colleges. Students collected literature, ordered catalogs and discussed the opportunities available. College Night made students' decisions for college easier and better prepared them.

Junior themes

Disorganized papers, hurried scribbling, smudged notecards, stubby pencils and pens that run dry. These are all hazards that juniors encountered while tackling their junior themes. After sitting in contemplation for hours, juniors formed a theme in their minds and struggled to devise supporting topics and statements. Hours of endless research, cramped fingers, aching backs and a completed junior theme were the results for hardworking juniors.

Report cards

Every six weeks, Bowie students collected report cards from their various subjects and carted their accomplished grades home to their parents. Signed, the report cards were returned to the teachers, and at the end of each quarter, teachers recorded the grades in permanent student files.

Let's dance

A new trend that not only hit Bowie, but also swept over the entire country was disco-mania. Many people frequented the various discos in the area where they found lots of action and an all-around good time spent with friends.

Fashion

Many fashions were displayed this year at Bowie. Sights such as big tops with straight-leg jeans and heels were the more frequent fashions, while bobby socks and heels were rare. The skirt length fell below the knee, while the blazer was the highlight of any outfit.

Computers

Computers were used for the first time this year. The computers were programmed to schedule students for classes in first, second and third quarters. Students complained because the computers did not give them the classes or class periods they desired. Distressed teachers attempted to decipher the computer schedule cards, and counselors tackled re-scheduling unsatisfied students.

Sophomores.....1981

Sophomore officers meet challenges

Guiding their classmates through their first year at JBHS, the Sophomore Class officers joined together to provide leadership for the class and to make the '78-'79 sophomore year the most memorable and enjoyable ever. The officers met challenge upon challenge to make the year a success.

Sophomores set long distance goals

Seeking to provide a smooth transition into high school, the Sophomore Council led their classmates in an active year. Although their senior prom was two years away, for the Sophomore Class, the Council planned a variety of activities for the underclassmen. The Sophomore Class sold free passes to other clubs' booths at the Carni Vol and sold candy in early spring. The driving force behind the Council was their goal to make the Class of '81 senior prom the best in Bowie's history.

After school

While the 3:30 bell meant the end of a long day's work it meant the beginning for many others. Jobs kept the students busy, providing spending money for some and car payments for others. Those who did not find themselves employed often filled their spare time with hobbies and their extracurricular school activities.

Shopping

The various malls in and around Arlington were usually crowded with people going through the long and tedious task of getting the "perfect outfit" whether it be for a date, disco dancing or just for wearing to school. Sometimes it would even take hours of trying on size 7/8 jeans when one decided she really needed a 9/10. The other stores, not to be missed, were the shoe stores carrying the new styles of shoes and boots that were seen throughout Bowie.

Cruisin'

"Dragging the Main," or so it was called in ages past, was usually done during lunch, but primarily on the weekend. A variety of fast cars could be spotted going back and forth on Cooper Street, anytime one just "happened to be there." If you pulled up the seat and decided to watch the show you probably could have counted how many times that blue Camaro, white Vet, or any other car went by.

Tardies

To combat tardies at Bowie, the attendance offices introduced tardy sign-in forms. Each student had to sign a tardy slip for each class to which he was tardy. Three tardies constituted an hour's detention, and each tardy thereafter was punished with an additional hour in d-hall.

Registration

New students were welcomed to Bowie's '78-'79 school year in August. Students received their schedules, registered their cars and received a handout of the school's rules and policies. On registration day, seniors registered first and the juniors and sophomores followed close behind. For many of the students, registration provided the opportunity for long parted friends to get together again, and for other students it meant new friends.

Lockers

For the first time since school opened, lockers were assigned in groups of three students or more through third period classes. For many students it was a hair-raising experience between classes to get through the traffic and confusion of locker mania. Because of the confusion and clutter, many students often arrived in class with the wrong book only to have to turn around and go back, in search of the one certain book, before the tardy bell rang.

Homemaking

Students in the Homemaking Department provided many pleasant smells for students and staff anywhere on the second floor. The students participated in preparing meats, casseroles, salads, desserts and entire meals as the students in the halls passed by smacking their lips. The homemaking students also participated in Sewing and Child Development classes, while others worked through the department at homemaking-related jobs.

The Commanders

. . . we trusted them to guide us.

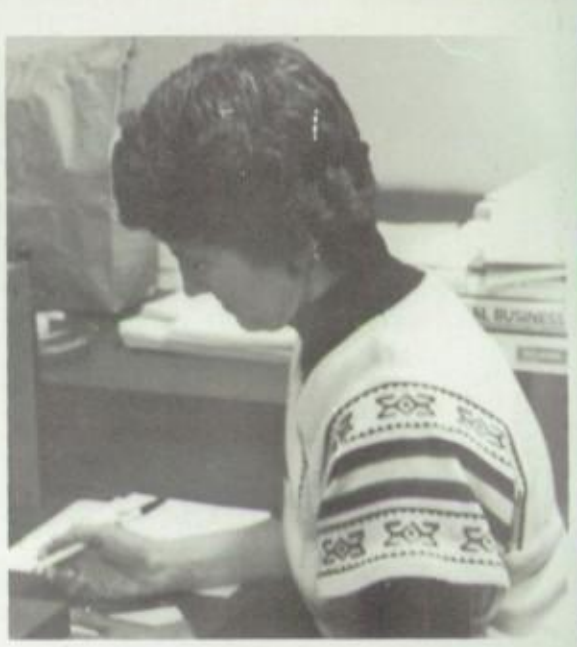
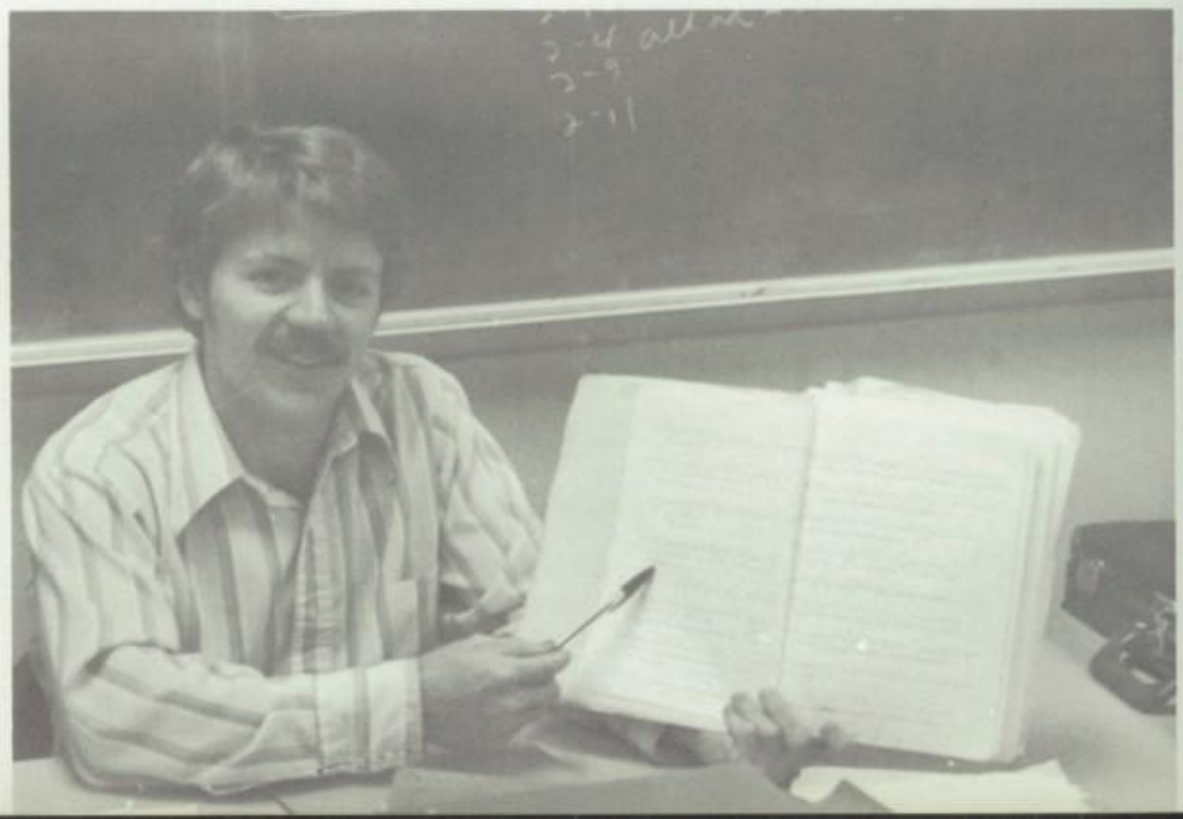
Variety brightens teachers' days

This year's faculty at Bowie worked to promote spirit, improve instruction, oversee student activities and offer encouragement to students and co-workers. To achieve their purpose, teachers often arrived early and stayed late to provide individual instruction, grade papers and prepare lessons. Teachers participated in pep rallies, Carol Sing, secret pals, the faculty Christmas party, and Phase One of Skills for Living, a program in teacher-student relationships.





Staff honors co-worker

Mrs. Myrna Garrison was named the '78-'79 "Teacher of the Year." The faculty was asked for nominations at the beginning of the school year, and from these nominations she was awarded the honor. Mrs. Garrison received a charm from the PTA, along with her name placed on a plaque in the main office. She taught Business Law, Insurance, Investments, Real Estate and Business Management.

Dedication builds spirit

The backbone of the home of the Volunteers, Mr. Doyle Malone, supported the entire student body and encouraged school spirit. A principal's job is not simply keeping things in order. It is attending sports events and other extracurricular activities, supporting club-sponsored events, and promoting spirit through voice and action. This year Mr. Malone aided the student body in receiving the right to hold the senior prom outside Arlington. With his support, loyalty, friendliness and good leadership Bowie attained superiority.

Trio maintains school operation

Assistant Principals Mr. Rick Berry, Miss Jane Robin Ellis and Mr. Ron Tiner each handled specific duties to provide for the efficiency of Bowie. Mr. Berry took charge over a variety of jobs including the master schedule construction and curriculum development. Attendance procedures and discipline for girls was the task of Miss Ellis. Basic needs such as textbooks, buses and lockers, as well as boys attendance and discipline was the responsibility of Mr. Tiner.

Board organizes, leads AISD

The Arlington Board of Education made all the major decisions concerning Arlington's school finances, teaching materials, school boundaries and district policies. The seven persons composing the School Board served without pay for three year terms. Familiarized through study sessions, public forums, and when necessary executive sessions, the Arlington School Board improved the quality of the district's education.

Covert sets AISD policies

Mr. James A. Covert, superintendent, has served in many other areas of the educational profession. Before coming to Arlington Mr. Covert acted as a coach, counselor, principal, and assistant superintendent for the Texarkana Schools. His past experience was a valuable tool to helping the faculty and students of the Arlington community to attain new levels of achievement.

Counselors offer varied services

Counselors Mrs. Patsy Fisher, Mr. Kenneth Chapman, Mrs. Carolyn Heath, and Mrs. Mary Beth Ward provided students with various guidance services throughout the year. When computer scheduling produced conflicts, counselors were there to correct the problems students encountered. Information services concerning college and career opportunities were available to interested students. The counselors provided a listening ear, proving to be a comfort to students and faculty.

Club sponsors

For the many clubs and organizations at Bowie the driving force behind their success was often the teachers. Each faculty member sponsored at least one club or organization throughout the year, giving up Wednesday activity periods, Saturdays and occasionally their evenings. Their efforts resulted in an especially spirited year at Bowie.

Lesson plans

Teachers have homework, too. Believe it or not, teachers often had to skip their favorite TV program or a Sunday afternoon with their families to grade papers or prepare lesson plans for their classes. Hours were often spent in libraries or with fellow-teachers as our instructors researched materials for their students.

Grading

Designing tests and worksheets, preparing lessons and providing individual tutoring didn't complete the teachers' days. Once class was over, piles of papers often stared at the teachers, waiting to be graded. Red pens in hand, teachers used lunch periods, conference periods, and every spare minute between classes grading papers. The loads of papers frequently made their way to the teachers' homes for a full evening of marking and recording.

Duty

Though teachers ate lunch too, they were not always found in the cafeteria. Scheduled at regular intervals, teachers monitored the halls, lobbies and the parking lot during their lunch periods. This year for the first time, Bowie faculty members also monitored the buses after school. Before school, they could be found in the lobbies and cafeteria keeping students out of the halls.

PTA

Each year teachers are urged to join Parent-Teacher Association. During 1978-1979 the PTA raised money for scholarships through their annual membership drive and by selling crocks of cheese. In September and during Public Schools Week in March, teachers met parents at the PTA sponsored Open House.

Secret pals

Teachers drew names this year around Christmas time to determine their secret pals. For one week secret pals showered each other with small gifts and tokens of friendship. With each gift usually came a message of good will, and often the message came in the form of a rhyme. At the end of the week each teacher revealed to whom he had been a secret pal.

Band takes top honors

Under the direction of Mr. Ron Koen and Mr. Jim Stone, the 1978 Marching Band boasted their most successful year to date. Their performances during halftime of all varsity football games was a forerunner to their success at contests. At the Cleburne contest held on October 28, the band was awarded a number one rating. Success came again at the UIL contest. From the voice of the judges, it was announced the James Bowie High School Band was the most outstanding in District 8-4A. In late fall, the band members sold candles to fund a spring trip.

Orchestra rosins up their bows

The '78-'79 Bowie Orchestra produced a very constructive year. Under the direction of Miss Rosalynn Waldorf, the orchestra participated in numerous contests. All-region tryouts were held on November 2 in Colleyville. A Christmas concert was held on December 18 with the Sam Houston orchestra. Other competitions they participated in were the UIL Orchestra contest, UIL Solo and Ensemble contest, AMTA Solo and Ensemble contest, Baylor Festival in Waco, and the Greater Southwest Festival held in Amarillo. The Bowie Orchestra played host to the All-Region Orchestra on January 26-27.

Practice pays off for Flag Corps

The year of '78 filled with highlights added to the excitement for the Flag Corps. They practiced on Tuesdays and Thursdays which paid off for the corps when they were named the Outstanding Color Guard at the Cleburne Marching Contest on October 28. Each year the Flag Corps designs their uniforms, creates their routines and performs with the marching band at all football games.

Weekly practice sessions combined to provide the Rifle Line a successful year.

Jazz goes Swiss

Jazz Band members honored Bowie by bringing home many awards. They received straight one's throughout the year and was the only Arlington band to qualify for sweepstakes. They won the first place trophy in the Ninth Annual Mountain View College Jazz Festival in Dallas, where they competed with 12 other 4-A bands. They won over 22 top 4-A bands at the UTA Jazz Festival, performed in Mexico's Chapultapec Park and held a special concert in Bowie's auditorium to raise money for their trip to Switzerland. Bowie's Jazz Band was one of four bands chosen to represent the United States in the International Jazz Festival in Montreux, Switzerland.

Balladeers

Choir Director Miss Mary Taylor took great pride in the '78-'79 Balladeers, a combined choir of sophomores, juniors and seniors. Their talents shone through when four members qualified for the All-District Choir. Don Trask, Kay Ward, Esther Sepulvida and Jill Clagett brought the honors home to Bowie. Cindy Crowell went a step further when she was named to the All-Region Chorus. The choir received high ratings when they participated in UIL competition on March 9 at UTA.

Bowie's B-Company could perhaps be labeled as the forerunner to Balladeers. In the sophomore choir the students learned the basics of choral performances. The test of their learnings came when they were eligible to participate in UIL. The Choral Department supported Bowie by sponsoring the Spring Fling and the Musical Carousel.

Drill team brings honor to Bowie

Performing at all pep rallies and football games, the Bowie Babes jumped right into the '78-'79 school year. Following the Arlington High football game the Babes sponsored a midnight movie, "Wait Until Dark." After a busy fall quarter, the drill team maintained a full calendar, as they provided entertainment at Bowie's home-court basketball games. January 13 found the Babes in Grand Prairie at the North Texas Drill Team Pageant and Team Competition, achieving an outstanding rating. Drill team members also participated in the Blue and Gold Drill Team competition at East Texas State University on February 17. The annual spring show was presented by the Bowie Babes on March 30.

Varsity cheerleaders boost spirit

"We've got spirit, yes we do . . ." was perhaps the motto for the '78-'79 Varsity Cheerleaders. Cheering at the football and basketball games was not the extent of their activities; they promoted spirit in many unique ways. They sponsored "Spirit Week" which included Western Day, Orange and White Day and spirit link sales. The girls also planned the pep rallies which included cheers, skits, music and dance. Fun was had by all when the girls hosted a VOL-FIRE. It was here where the student body ignited the Vols on to victory.

Big Jim for the '78-'79 school year, Kim Benjamin, had perhaps the toughest shoes to fill at Bowie. Promoting school spirit was his goal. At the games, he encouraged spectators to join together in proving the Vols are number one.

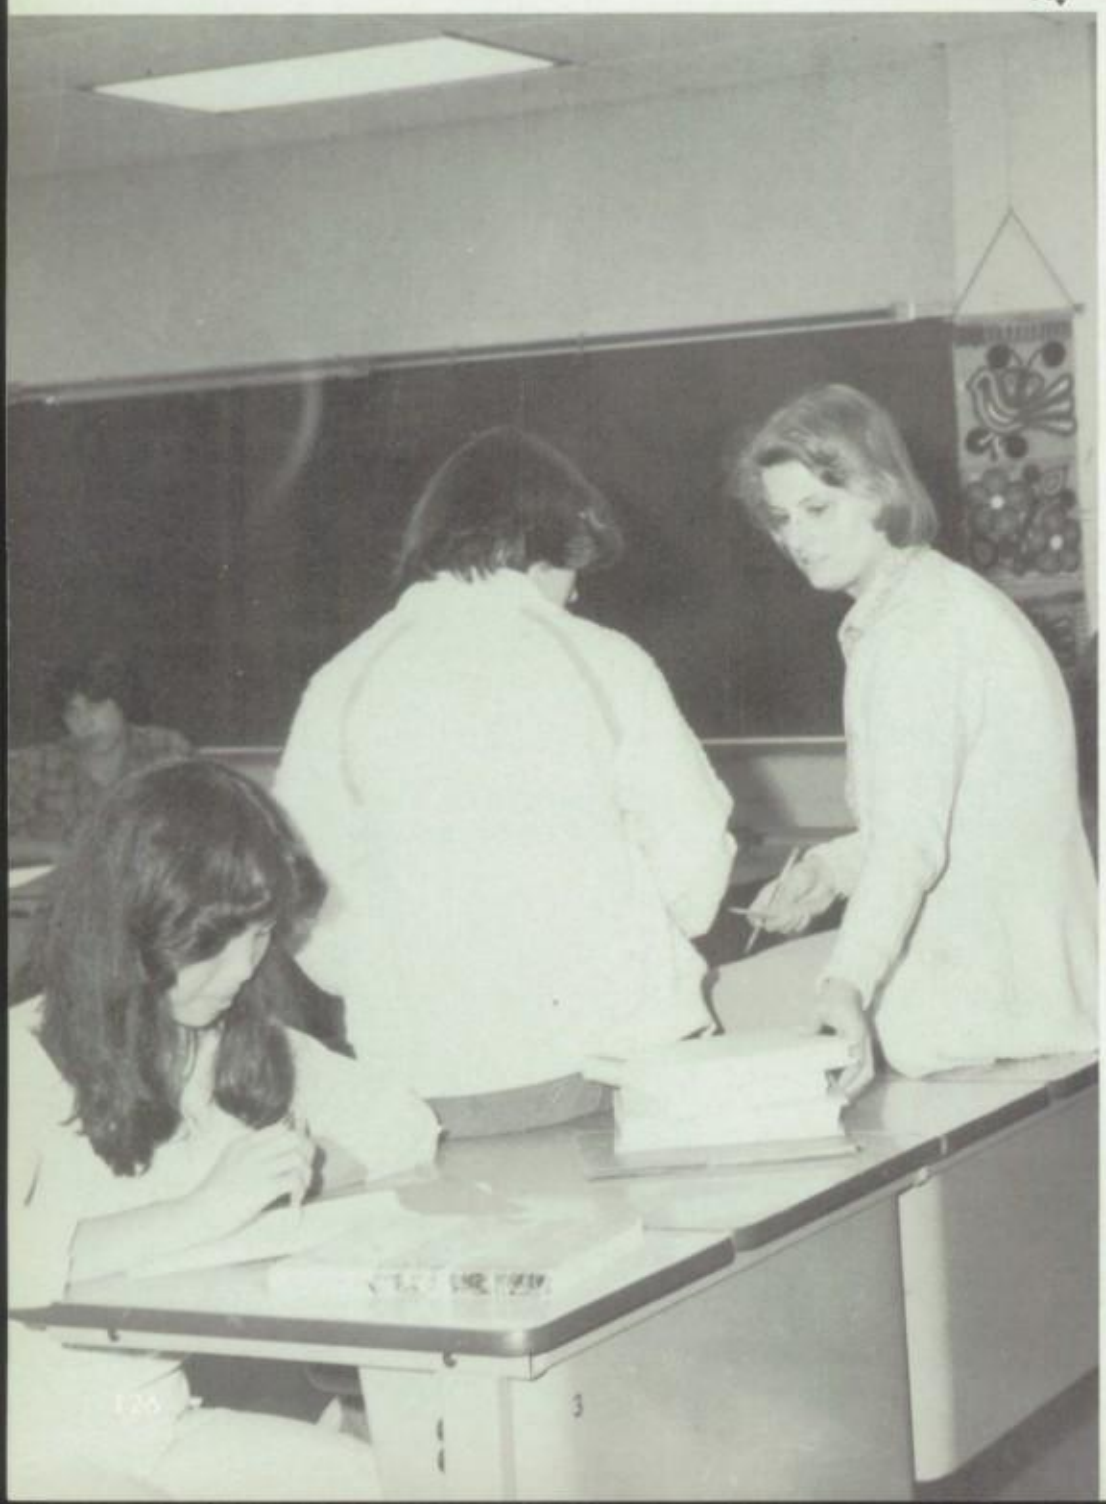
Needing help with displaying the signs around Bowie during football season, the cheerleaders called upon four seniors to assist in this task. Those selected were Teresa Tennison, Kathy Hunt, Kurt Larson and Greg Boggan. Holding breakthroughs at the football games was the least of their activities, for they devoted much time after hours building school spirit for the upcoming pep rallies and games.



Spanish Club es grande

The Spanish Club boasted a very productive year. They sold nachos at the annual Carni-Vol and put out their own newspaper which was written is Spanish, the "El Bandito." The Spanish Club from Sam Houston joined our club for a picnic and football game. Their annual Christmas party was held at Emilianos where they drew gifts from a grab-bag. Later in the year, they joined together for an ice skating party. They ended the year by sponsoring a food tasting day.

AFS gets involved

The '78-'79 American Field Service participated in many events throughout the school year to raise money to bring a foreign exchange student to Bowie next year. One of the events was selling M&M's during lunch and between classes. AFS's biggest project was AFS Week. During AFS Week the club sold friendship links. The links were a nickel and the class with the most money won a pizza party. Also during this week the student body was invited to an assembly to get to know all the foreign exchange students from Arlington and surrounding areas. The officers of the club were president, Stephen Belauskas; vice president, Doug Baumgartner; secretary, Karen Carr; and treasurer, Kathleen Snowden.

Troublesome times end in '79 Explorer

The 1979 Explorer staff released the largest book in Bowie's history. Along with the 328 pages came long hours of hard work, disagreements between staff members, and difficulties in meeting deadlines. "This darn headline won't fit," "I need to draw a layout," and "I've got to write some copy," were popular phrases used by all staff members. However, though many minds doubted an end result, through staffers donating many hours and photographers printing mounds of pictures, the final deadline came to a close.

NHS bridges gap

National Honor Society members spent a busy year filled with installations, inductions, parties and picnics. Although social gatherings played an enormous part in the club's activities, members took on a tremendous responsibility when they planned and constructed a footbridge in Clarence Foster Park. The club funded the bridge through private donations, workdays at Six Flags and by sponsoring a pie throwing booth at the Carni-Vol. To be considered for membership one must have a teacher's recommendation and portray four attributes — character, leadership, scholarship and service. School files are reviewed carefully and the final decisions on membership is made by Mrs. Mary Beth Ward and Mrs. Betty Jean Pettit.

Journalists put quills to scrolls

Quill and Scroll is an international honorary organization for journalists. High school students qualifying for membership may pay a membership fee and have their names entered on the international membership roll. Qualifications are that the student must be on the newspaper or annual staff, have a B-average and have from ten to 20 points. Students receiving ten points qualify to be a regular member. Students receiving 20 points qualify as honor members. Journalism students receive five points for the first year in journalism, one point for every year following, for being an editor, entering the UIL contest, writing a column for a daily newspaper and participating in any other journalism-related activities. Receiving awards, participating in workshops, openhouse, PTA and working extra hours may also bring points. At the end of each year, a Quill and Scroll banquet is held at which awards are given in individual journalism-related categories. This year the speaker at the banquet was Donna Darovich.

FBLA shows off skills

FBLA brought many honors to Bowie during the '78-'79 year. They attended a district convention at Arlington High School in February where they competed with other Arlington schools in office skills. Bowie winners included Tammie Ford, first place in Shorthand I; Susan Turk, third place in job interviews; Todd Welch, third place in Accounting I; and Debbie Edwards, first place in business law. They also sold student directories at the beginning of the school year. Sponsors for FBLA were Mrs. Naomi Mitchell and Mrs. Maxine Hart.

FHA . . .
a spice of life

The '78-'79 Future Homemakers of America participated in many different projects throughout the year. Helping the needy was one of their largest projects. FHA sponsored two different drives, the Good Samaritan Drive, which succeeded in collecting a wide variety of items for the poor; and a canned food drive before the Thanksgiving holidays for the underprivileged. The FHA added a little cheer to the children's ward at Grand Prairie Community Hospital by decorating all the children's doors with Christmas scenes. Other activities the club participated in included a Howdy Dance and a Lester Melnick's Young Ideas Christmas Style Show. The club's group outing was held at the state fair. The FHA finished the year with an Easter egg hunt for young children and Area and State FHA Leadership conferences.

Hosting an exciting year, OEA was proud to honor the new '79-'80 members with a weiner roast. The former members were also credited by the club with a salad supper. OEA competed in area wide contests at TCJC. They also were in state competition in Houston. Not all of the year was filled with serious events; however, they enjoyed entertainment such as a Halloween Party, the Dart Booth at Carni-Vol and a visit to Eastern Star Home to write letters for the residents. The Annual Employer-Employee Banquet was a huge success, thanking the Employers for their support throughout the year.

Vols open with win

Defeating the South Grand Prairie Warriors 27-12 the Bowie Volunteers opened the '78-'79 varsity football season. With endless effort and determination the Vols proved that it could be done and throughout the season their devotion proved strong through endless struggles and hopeless defeats. Though many injuries plagued the Bowie Volunteers this season, their faith and hope in one another as a "team" failed to cease. One may look upon the '78-'79 varsity football players not only as a "team" but as a proud and devoted team ready to face a challenge and accept the consequences.

Challenge vs. defeat

Though running a close race with Western Hills, the Volunteers fell short with a 21-20 loss. Lewisville turned the tide on the Vols, as did Burkburnett and Sam Houston. Bowie Homecoming excitement was dampened when the Lamar Vikings jumped the Volunteers 23-7 but the Vol determination held strong. Turnovers hampered the Haltom and Arlington High games for the Bowie Vols, both ending in defeat. The Burleson Elks proved themselves to the Volunteers as they put out quarterback Jeff Kemp for the game and ran away with a 21-13 win. The Volunteers ended the '78-'79 football season with what many thought would be a victory. The Richland Rebels trailed the Vols 7-0 at halftime of the game but came back to take the winning score of 21-13.

JV proves rugged

Tough, rugged and successful . . . that's one way of describing Bowie's junior varsity football team for the '78-'79 season. Opening their season with three outstanding wins against South Grand Prairie (27-21), Western Hills (22-12) and Lewisville (19-14), the JV Volunteers were showing their full potential. The next three games all ended in a loss for the JV team, but they soon came back to defeat the Haltom Buffalos 36-16. The game against the Arlington Colts brought much pride and enthusiasm for the Bowie Vols as they brought the Colts down to a 26-6 defeat. The Burleson Elks showed little competition for Bowie as the Volunteers ran away with a score of 19-0. The Vols ended the season with a 28-21 loss to Richland.

VARSITY VOLLEYBALL

Under a new coach with new methods, Bowie's varsity spikers completed a season of four wins and eight losses, placing them fifth in district competition against seven teams. Good steady performances were shown by senior Cheri Burrows, who received All-District, and junior Suzanne Jones who received Second Team All-District. All players, substitutes and starters proved fairly equal in playing abilities, but outstanding serving abilities were shown by Mary Lippe and Karen Bond.

Vols take teams on rebounds

This season was Bowie's first year to be included in the finals of the Bowie-Sam Houston tournament as they crushed Irving by eight points to get there. Going up against the Texans for the championship game turned out victorious for the Vols as they took the winning trophy over a score of 55-50. Team members Curt Freeman (most valuable player), Steve Ross, and Lee Harris were all named on the All-Tournament team.

Opening the '78-'79 basketball season with a close winning score of 50-48 against Nimitz paved the path for the Vols. As spirit soared through the crowd of Bowie fans, the Vols went on to defeat Eastern Hills 59-43. The four preceding games ended in defeat for the Vols as the Grand Prairie Gophers (61-63), Duncanville (50-60), Eastern Hills (56-58), and South Grand Prairie (67-75) took the winner's title from the Vols. Carter Riverside proved to be tough competition, putting up a hard struggle only to fall short under the goal, with Bowie taking a 68-67 victory. The Trinity Trojans trampled the Vols throughout the Bowie-Trinity match keeping control of the scoreboard throughout the game, finishing with a 89-69 defeat over Bowie. The Vols then went on to make a clean sweep over the Plano Wildcats as they pinned 64 points to Plano's 57.

Volunteer goals cut short

The Bowie Cagers recorded their first district win this season over the Burleson Elks 74-69. As the Vols met the Richland Rebels, it was quickly apparent that the Vols were facing a tough team. Bowie had just 25 points at half time compared to Richland's 35. The Vols tried to stay in sight of the Rebels, who sped their way to a 63-68 final lead. The Haltom Buffaloes tried and failed in their attempt to halt Bowie's Volunteers. The Vols trailed the Buffaloes up until the final seconds of the game, only to take a final 48-45 victory. Bowie went on to dunk the Arlington Colts with a tight score of 46-45, making the Bowie fans ecstatic over the crosstown rival defeat. The Lamar Vikings followed behind the Vols on the scoreboard until the final quarter of the game where they turned the score and took the winning title of 59-61. Sam Houston took a rough beating from the Vols with senior Lee Harris netting 16 points and Steve Ross netting 15. The final outcome of the game left the Texans in the ring as the Volunteers snapped a 50-45 victory, giving Bowie a second place position in the first half of district play.

In the opener of the second half of the district games, Bowie faced the Burleson Elks with great determination which led to a 66-65 defeat over the Elks. Richland once again emerged with a fatal defeat over the Vols 53-63. The Haltom Buffaloes failed once more in their attempt to halt the Vols as Bowie overtook the Buffs 50-45. The great winning streak ceased as the Colts returned to claim a victory over the Vols 56-61. Sam Houston's Texans faced the Vols for one last battle, ending in a shutout score of 72-54.

J.V. BASKETBALL

Expectations turned to disappointments for Bowie's junior varsity '78-'79 basketball team as their season ended with a 6-20 record. Though much hard work and team effort were involved, the JV team fell short of victories. Hampered by little floor experience and tough competition, these men fought until the end. Much pride was instilled into the team as they dunked the Lamar Vikings with a winning score of 48-43 and then proceeded to knock out the Haltom Buffalos only to fall short with a score of 41-42.

Girls pull 6 wins

Bowie's varsity girls basketball team started district play with an exciting defeat over Sam Houston's Texans 45-42. Richland Hills faced the girls with an upsetting score of 41-68 as high scorer of the game Cindy Lindblad netted a total of 17 points. The Vols went on to defeat the Haltom Buffaloes 47-45 with Lindblad scoring 18 points and senior Dee Rutland scoring 15. The Lamar Vikings found themselves unsuccessful against the Vols, 35-34, giving the Vols high hopes for a win over the Arlington Colts, which came as no surprise to Bowie fans as the girls blew them away 54-47. The first half of district play ended in a loss against the Burleson Elks 23-45 leaving a record of four wins and two losses for the Volunteers.

The second half of district play brought a 49-53 loss against Sam Houston with Dee Rutland as high scorer with 25 points. Bowie defeated Lamar once again 53-40, Rutland again scoring highest with 26 points. Richland upset the Vols once more, 36-63, yet the Haltom Buffaloes fell under the score of 48-42 as Cindy Lindblad totaled 25 points during the game. The last two games of the season ended in defeat as the Arlington Colts (42-56) and the Burleson Elks (29-46) ran away with the winning scores over the Volunteers.

Soccer mania strikes Vols

Soccer mania struck Bowie as Coach Carl Copeland led his varsity soccer team to a second place position in the Trinity Soccer Tournament. Going up against Arlington High in the championship game, the Volunteers encountered tough competition. Bowie went on to defeat the soccer teams of Paschal, LD Bell, Sam Houston and matched Lamar with a score of 5-5.

As chosen by their teammates, John Thomas was named outstanding offensive player, Matt Schiebel, outstanding defensive player, and sophomore Brad Hutchens was honored with the title of most valuable player of the year. The Volunteers ended their season with a 1-4-1 record with many joys and disappointments and high hopes for next year's season.

Swimmers stroke to regionals

B↑

This year proved to be the year of the Volunteer swimmers as they sent backstroke and freestyle swimmer Cindy Green to the state meet in Austin where she received eleventh place.

Throughout the swimming season, team members Cindy Green and Chris Suggs swam their ways to the district meet where Cindy won two firsts and Chris won one first and one second, enabling both girls to qualify for the regional meet. Both the girls and boys relay teams qualified for regionals where the girls placed sixth. Cindy made her debut at the regionals meet with a first and a third, and Chris took home a sixth and seventh. Under the coaching assistance of Mrs. Juli Warner, Bowie's swim team held their practices and workouts every day and most times twice a day before and after school.

Golf swings into action

Bowie's golf team suffered several setbacks in their 1978-79 season. Severe weather caused the cancellation of several tournaments and also cut down on their practice time. Despite the weather senior George McMann played well all year and was named first team all district. Unfortunately one player doesn't make a team and Bowie finished sixth in the district. Bowie was represented this year by two girl golfers, Kim Berry and Alda Siguraardo'ttir. Alda finished fourth in district, and Kim was shooting well when she had to withdraw due to injury. Both the girls and boys golf teams were coached this year by Mr. Mike Edwards.

Bowie makes tracks

Bowie's track team this season won the first varsity meet of Bowie's history as they defeated rival Sam Houston for the Volunteer relays championship. At the district meet, Tim Lamun (shot put), David Zack (pole vault), Lee Bedford (440 dash), and Rob Hansen (high jump) all qualified for the regional meet where Lee Bedford set a new school record of 50.8 in the 440 dash. Other school record breakers were Mark Gates (880 dash) with a time of 1:59.1; Buck Bell (120 high hurdles) with a time of 15.1; Greg Boggan (high jump) with a height of 6′4″; Buck Bell (long jump) with a distance of 21′8″; Tim Lamum (shot put) with a distance of 53′10½″; and Tim Lamun (discus) with a distance of 144′1″. The mile relay, two mile relay, distance medley and the sprint medley also broke school records this year. As a whole, Bowie's track team came in third place in district standings, also a school record.

Girls keep a-'trackin'

A↑

Track Coach Cindy Harriman had a rewarding season during the year as she led many of her girls to the district meet and then on to regionals. At the district meet, Jeanne DeOrdio placed sixth in the triple jump and fifth in the one hundred yard dash. Karla Snodgrass placed fifth in the high jump; Carolyn Holland placed fifth in the discus throw; and Cindy Rosales placed third in the 440. The 880 yard relay team consisting of Kim Leichner, Karen Bond, Sonja Boliver and Cindy Rosales placed fifth in the district meet, and the mile relay team placed fourth. Those girls who placed to go to the regional meet were Karen Bond, Jeanne Deordio and Karla Snodgrass. At the meet, Karen came in second in the 880; Jeanne placed first in the high jump; and Karla placed first in the 80-yard hurdles and second in the 100-yard dash.

Racquet mania soars

Bowie's varsity fastballers hit the field with an opening defeat of 14-1 against Trinity in the start of non-district play. Bowie bunted out the Everman baseball team 17-6 yet failed to gain more than two runs to O.D. Wyatt's seven. Batting against Trinity once more, the Volunteers held their own (7-1) as David Jasper hit two homeruns against the Trojans. Crowley and Everman failed to meet the Volunteers headstrong as the Vols pitched two shut-out scores of 18-1 against Crowley and 19-12 against Everman. The pouring rain and drenched baseball fields led to the cancellation of the Grand Prairie tournament for the Bowie Volunteers as non-district play came to its end with David Jasper achieving the highest batting average of the team.

Vols swing in wins

The Volunteers acquired their first district defeat as the Burleson Elks closed under Bowie 3-1. Lamar's Vikings drove in a single run of the game and defeated the Vols 0-1. The Haltom Buffaloes slid in past the Vols with a tight score of 2-3 leaving Bowie with their second upset in district play. Bowie broke their losing streak when Richland pulled in only two runs as the Vols slugged in seven. A second consecutive win came as the Vols homed six runners and yielded but one to the Colts. Sam Houston failed to hold the Vols as they fell into a 4-3 loss. Bowie faced the second half of district play with many letdowns. Lamar grounded a 3-10 victory over the Vols and Burleson ran home with a small victory of 2-3. Haltom (2-12), Richland (4-3), Arlington, and Sam Houston all led defeats over the Vols, thus ending the '79 baseball season. Kurt Larson was Bowie's most consistent batter for the season and most valuable player for the year.

Under the direction of Coaches Bill Smalley and Rick Vanhooser, the boys cross country team ran many miles in practice to prepare for the weekly meets. Girls cross hard paths

The girls cross country team for the '78-'79 season was plagued with many sprained ankles, cracked hips, and indefinite bad weather. Starting the season with eleven girls and ending with only four on the squad, they lacked a fifth girl to qualify as a team, so the girls were unable to attend the district meet as one. Running individually at the district meet, Karen Bond ran herself on to the regional meet where she placed 72nd out of 175 girls. Though this year's season ended on a short note from endless injuries and a shortage of members, the girls held on as any "team" would and met the struggles together.

Second annual sports banquet held

A new tradition at Bowie High School is the annual sports banquet where outstanding sport participants are solely recognized for their individual accomplishments. Coaches representing their field of sport announced most valuable players and recognized players whom they had the privilege of coaching this year. A Volunteer's Prayer

Dear God, you gave me a mountain to climb this year. I had never seen a city championship, much less a bi-district or district, but I was ready and determined. I had practiced hard; the spirit and the drive was there. I didn't ask for an easy place in the line up; you put me where you needed me and I gave a hundred percent of all I had. It seemed as though all the hard drives came my way — thank you for the compliment. You reminded me that you never send a player more troubles than he can handle. I always played on the square even as bad breaks came my way, and when the natural turn of events went against me you helped me to accept that as part of the game. I didn't leave a game whimpering or squealing that I was framed or I got a raw deal. All I wanted to believe was that I played as well as I could and that I let no one down.

Amen

A very important event of the year is a high school's Homecoming football game. Bowie's Homecoming was celebrated on October 13, with much enthusiasm, despite the chilly temperature. Terre Usrey was named the 1978 Homecoming Queen; Karla Snodgrass, Junior Princess; and Carolyn Veselka, Sophomore Princess. Members of the Homecoming Court, along with their escorts were Beth Clemons and John Boodee; Sylvia Bohls and Kirk Koby; Jill Clagett and Shaun Nunn; Buffy Kramer and Steve Ross; Margaret Markham and her father, Don Markham; and Kay Ward and David Sepulveda. The nominees were presented with roses as they came on the field.

Homecoming week builds spirit

To highlight Homecoming, the cheerleaders built up spirit through Spirit Week, which was designated October 9-13. The week began with Western Day, when students dressed in wild west attire. It was followed by Overall Day, on which several students were mistaken for "Farmer Jones." On Thursday students wore their favorite jerseys and T-shirts. Friday wound up the week with Orange and White Day. The cheerleaders also sold spirit links during the week to promote spirit and raise money. Each class competed in the link sales, and the Senior Class emerged the winners.

Newcomers welcomed

As a terrified sophomore walked down the lonely, dark halls at Bowie High School, he was surrounded by ten overwhelming upperclassmen. "Sing sophomore!" they demanded. The words "Fight on you Volunteers" could barely be heard as the sophomore looked up with frightened eyes. Meanwhile, upstairs another lowerclassman was forced to choke down bottle upon bottle of Gerber's Strained Carrots.

These were just a few of the activities surrounding Howdy Day, held September 15, during the first three periods of the day. Its purpose was to welcome newly arrived sophomores to JBHS. Juniors were allowed to ask sophomores to sing the words of the fight song; seniors could ask juniors and sophmores; teachers could ask all students; and Mr. Doyle Malone had priority over everyone.

Clubs sing out at Christmas

On December 20, as school let out for the Christmas holidays, the halls were filled with anticipation and excitement. This was the day long awaited by everyone. It was also the day when Bowie held its traditional Carol Sing. All clubs and organizations participated to show their holiday spirit by acting out skits and singing Christmas carols. A panel of judges was selected to pick the winners for the best performances. The cheerleaders took the Grand Award for the overall best performance; the faculty for the best musical performance; the Drama Department for the most humorous; and the National Honor Society for best capturing the spirit of Christmas. The Carol Sing was sponsored by the Choral Department, and the hosts were the Balladeers president Don Trask and Student Council president David Hailey.

(A) Mr. Ivery shares his Christmas feelings in a song during the faculty's presentation at the Carol Sing. (B) On the twelfth day after Christmas, Jimna Barnett shoots the partridge out of the pear tree in the Student Council skit. (C) "What's the next line?" asks Mr. David York to Mr. Jack Russum at the Carol Sing. (D) Beth Clemons captures the real meaning of Christmas during the cheerleaders' performance. (E) Steve Robertson, Joe Claunch and Mike Miner act as the Three Wisemen in the National Honor Society skit. (F) Tammy Johnston, Chris Suggs, and Joan Trostel participate in "The Return of the Little People" sponsored by the Journalism Department. (G) The National Honor Society, with their reinactment of the birth of Christ, won the Spirit of Christmas award. (H) "O Tannenbaum, O Tannenbaum," sings the German Club members in the Carol Sing.

Drama 'Roars', 'Gongs'

Bowie's Drama Department presented "The Mouse That Roared," November 16 and 17. The cast consisted of 30 members while the lighting and sound were maintained by an additional crew of 40. The plot of the story revolved around a small country that declared war on the United States over a wine recipe.

Fifteen acts were featured at the January 26 Gong Show. Judges were chosen from the members of the audience to screen the acts and "gong" those considered "bad" by shouts heard from the crowd. Emcee Duane Sedge, introduced his side kick "Barf Box" which the audience took advantage of frequently. Performances included Captain and O'Neal, Shan-na-na, Giligan's Hamlet and more. The winning act was "Wild Wood Weed" performed by Steve Lamun, Jennifer Harris, and Phil Tullos.

(A) Pete Augustini portrays David Bener in the November 16-17 production of "The Mouse That Roared." (B) Susan Meerbott and Ronnie Pate depict a mother-son relationship in the roles of Mrs. Basscom and Tully in "The Mouse That Roared." (C)) Senior Duane Sedge serves as emcee at the Drama Department production of "The Gong Show." (D) Professor Kokintz, Scott Ball, gives advice to Mrs. Riener, Julie Garner. (E) Cindy Barbare and Lynda Rice put on their "Sunday Best" for the Gong Show. (F) Jennifer Harris, sophomore is "pickin'-and-a-grinnin'" with her song "Wild Wood Weed." (G) Duane Sedge states his position, acting as President of the U.S. in "The Mouse That Roared." (H) Karen O'Neal, Phillip Klinger, Tamara Samply, Doug McCullar and Lori Williams portray the Lubners from the show Saturday Night Live.

Drama presents . . .

Bowie's Drama Department participated in the UIL contest with the one-act play, "The Diary of Anne Frank." Bowie won all the top honors, which included first place for the play; Susan Meerbott, as Anne Frank, won best actress; Brian Henderson, as Mr. Frank, was named best actor; and Honorable Mention went to Adam Feldman as Krale.

Also presented by the Drama and Choral Departments was the musical "Carousel," Featured on May 10 and 11 in the auditorium. The production drew a large crowd for the Drama Department, netting a record $1100.

Vols boast spirit

Twas the morning of the game and all through the halls, everybody was stirring to cheer on the Vols. Their posters were hung on the wall with care, hoping that victory soon would be there. The band was tuned up all ready to play, while the students arrived to start the new day. The team in their jerseys of orange and white, were pondering about the upcoming night. When all at once there arose such a noise; the fight-song was playing to welcome our boys.

This year's pep rallies were held after third period every Friday. The cheerleaders, band, and drill team helped promote spirit, as well as the faculty with their skits. The cheerleaders planned and organized each pep rally and raised spirit by awarding spirit sticks to the loudest, most spirited class each week. The halls echoed louder than ever as the cheers, stomps, and yells of the students backed the Volunteer football players.

Juniors burst seniors' powder puff

The junior girls powdered the senior girls in the second annual Powder Puff football game on May 2. Each year the Powder Puff football game is a main attraction for the student body. A pep rally was held to cheer on the girls on the day of the big game and to drum up support for the annual event. Junior and senior boys volunteered their services by acting as cheerleaders. This year the attendance was the largest that it had ever been, which was good considering the rainy weather. Coaching the senior girls was Mr. Bill Riley, and the juniors were coached by Mr. Mike Edwards.

Spring brings fling

The year's Spring Fling centered around the musical talents of many creative students. Sponsored by the Choir Department, the Spring Fling featured such artists as Steve Lamun on piano and singing "Music Man," Holly Martin singing "Broadway Medley," Jimmy Arnold on guitar and singing "Stairway to Heaven," Susan Russell singing "With One More Look at You," and Genie Miller on piano with Bach's "Prelude of a Fugue." Musical groups included North Starr giving their rendition of the Beatles' "I Want To Hold Your Hand;" Eden singing "You Belong To Me," and Holly Martin, Jill Clagget and Amy Ashworth singing "Boogie Woogie Bugle Boy." Prizes were awarded by the emcees Mr. Klaus Driessen and Miss Deb Wardlaw. The grand prize was given to North Starr; first prize was awarded to Eden, second prize to Susan Russell, and third prize to Genie Miller. Door prizes were given by the hosts Don Trask and Tom Shaw.

Education can result in two things:
It can make a man arrogant and so becomes increase his understanding and get him where he wants to go much faster.

The latter result is a fine, noble thing.

NEW FRIENDS AND OLD FRIENDS

Make new friends, but keep the old;
Those are silver, these are gold.
New-made friendships, like new wine,
Age will mellow and refine.
Friendships that have stood the test —
Time and change — are surely best;
Brow may wrinkle, hair grow gray;
Friendship never knows decay.
For 'mid old friends, tried and true,
Once more we reach and youth renew.
But old friends, alas! may die;
New friends must their place supply;
Cherish friendships in your breast —
New is good, but old is best;
Make new friends, but keep the old;
Those are silver, these are gold.

—JOSEPH PARRY

YESTERDAY... TODAY... and TOMORROW!

Yesterday's dead,
Tomorrow's unborn,
So there's nothing to fear
And nothing to mourn,
For all that is past
And all that has been
Can never return
To be lived once again---
And what lies ahead
Or the things that will be
Are still in God's Hands
So it is not up to me
To live in the future
That is god's great unknown,
For the past and the present
God claims for His own,
So all I need do
Is live for Today
And trust God to show me
The Truth and The Way---
For it's only the memory
Of things that have been
And expecting Tomorrow
To bring trouble again
That fills my Today,
Which God wants to bless,
With uncertain fears
And borrowed distress---
For all I need live for
Is this one little moment,
For life's Here and Now
And Eternity's in it.

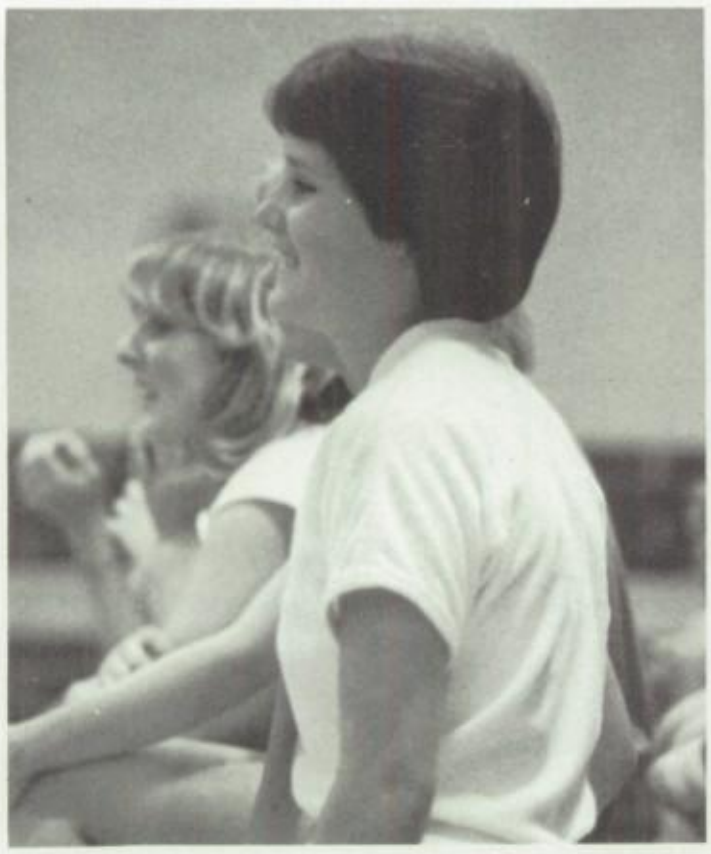
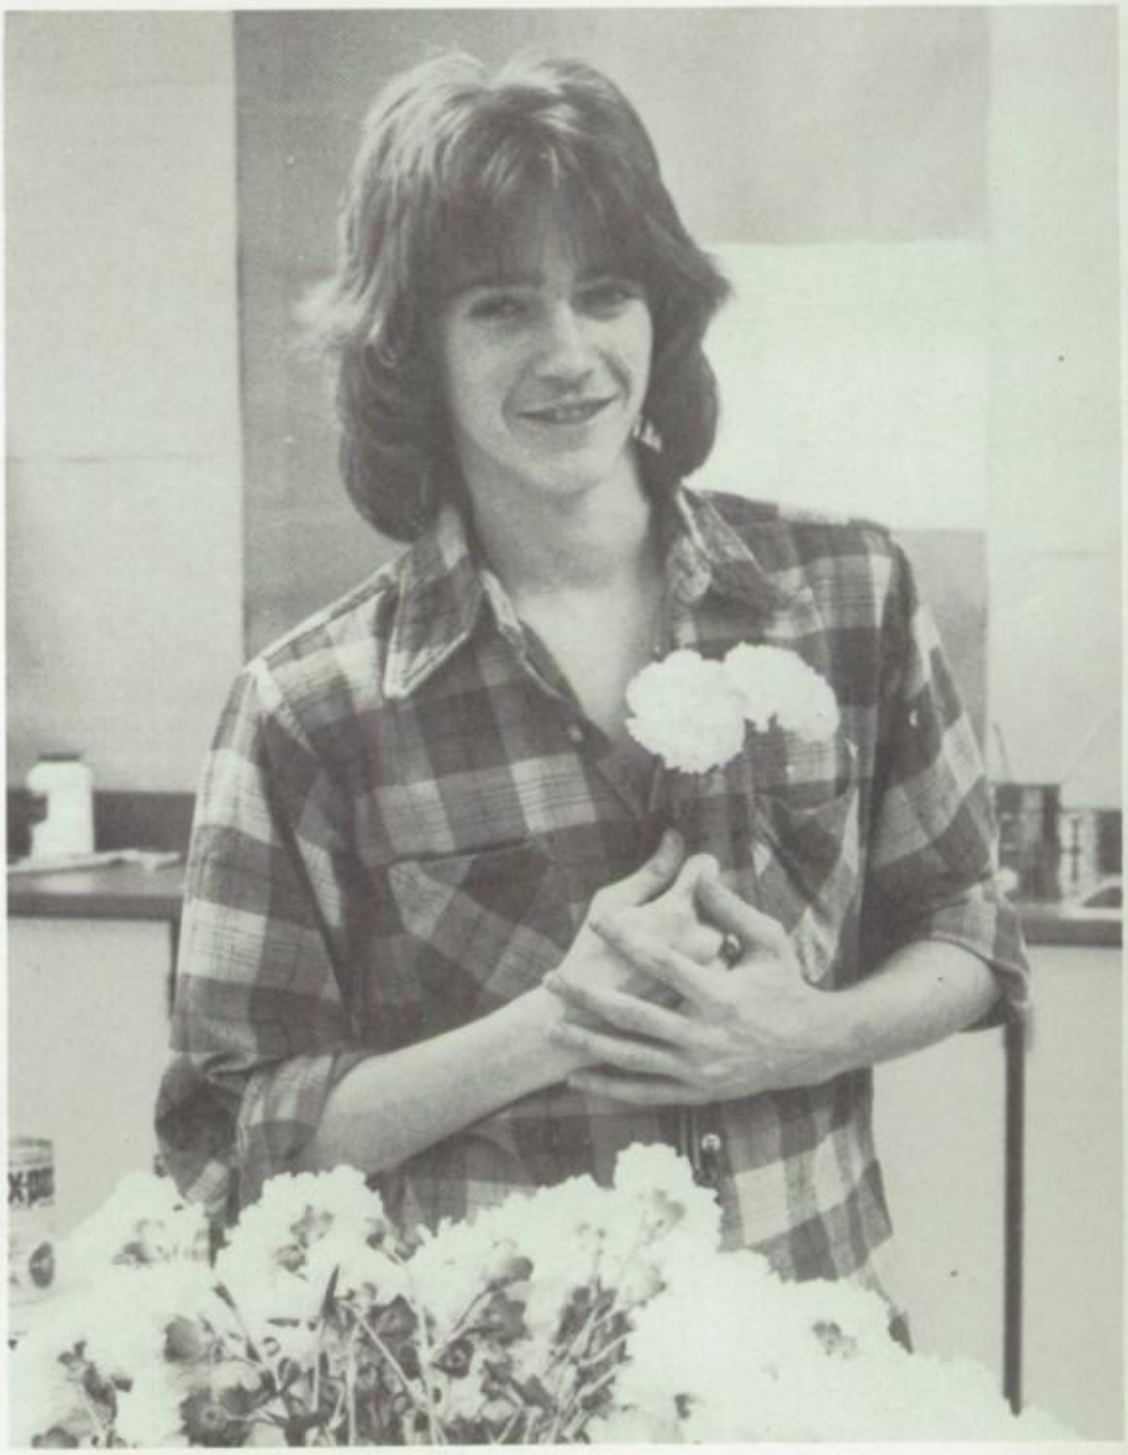
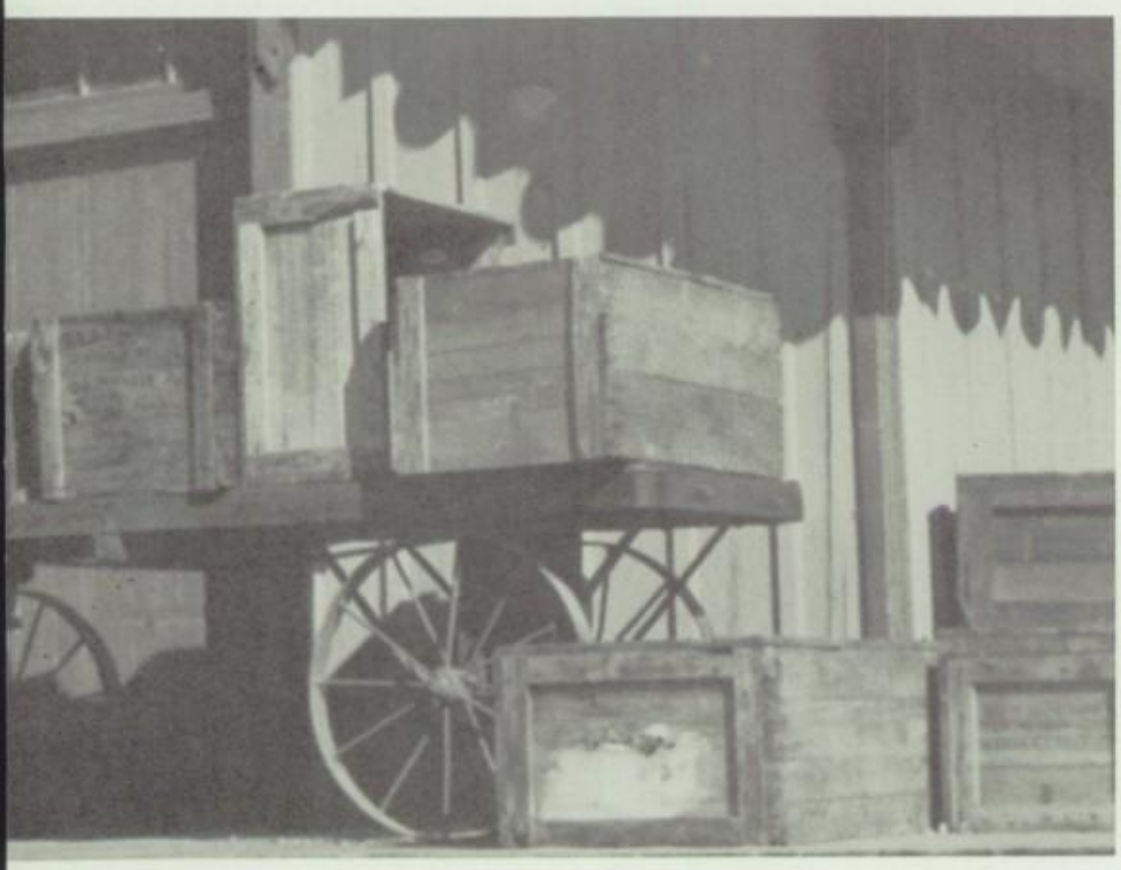
James Bowie High School 1978-79



The Alamo 1836

I think how marvelous it is to have lived a fulfilling life. Though my days are numbered, I am proud to have fought for my homeland.

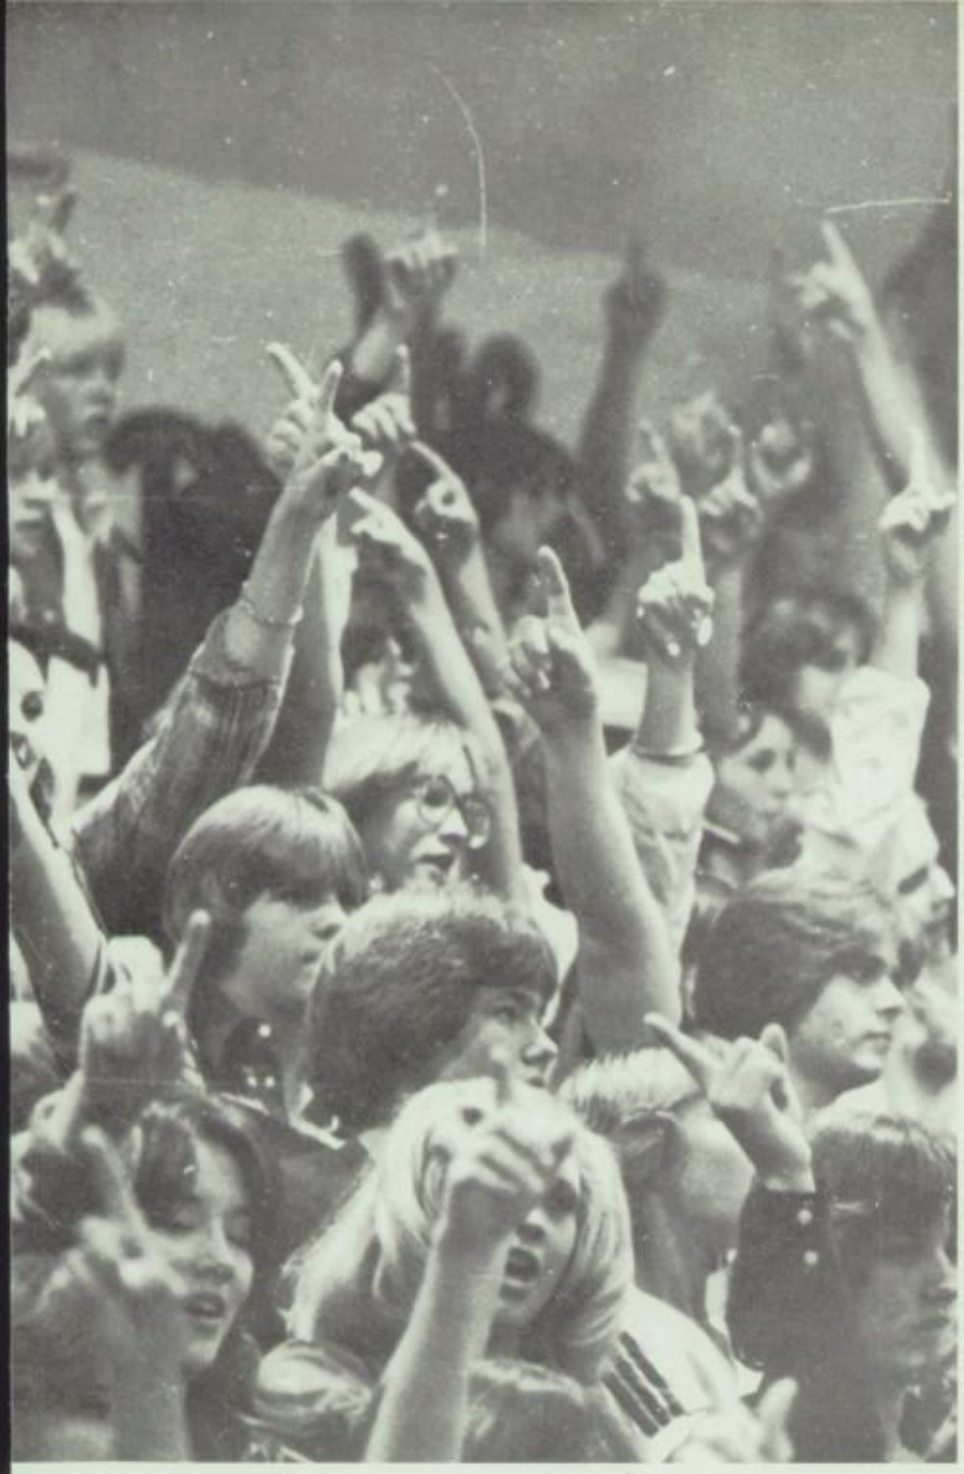




The sounds of the halftime bands have all ended. The footsteps of an actor crossing downstage right are no longer heard. The sound of the register in the lunchroom is now silent. The repetitious lifting of weights in the weight room has come to rest . . . our grand fortress has once again returned to a silent state.

Whoever may find my letters, I say to you to always have true commitments to what you defend. Let patriotism, dedication, honor and dignity lead you in all you do. Life is very enjoyable, live each day to its fullest. Life is priceless.

James Bowie
1836



The 1978-79 school year at James Bowie High School will be a memorable one for us. Though stage productions, concerts, athletic events, candy sales, chemistry tests, and Friday night dances may never again be relived, the memories can clearly be re-enacted in our minds.

Greg,

Well! Here's your yearbook. Pretty nice, huh? One of the better ones I've seen. It's supposed to be the biggest one Bowie has had yet. Impressive? not really. Last year was fun. (Well, sorta - not really.) Lil' Linda got a little dull when you left us. Look at it this way: you didn't have to put up with icky poo poo Mrs. Davis and her even worse Junior Theme. I envy you in that respect, but I'd hate to live in Colorado. Not that it ain't nice or anything, just that I'd hate to leave all my friends here - if ya' know what I mean! I hope that your Senior year is as good as mine is going to be (I hope!) Well, I'm sorry that I couldn't think of enough to put on this whole page - but you know how things go. Sometimes you can, sometimes you can't. All I got left to say is hope your good luck in everything - especially in the "female" department. Stay like you are. Take care. Fool a friends forever,

Linda Majkut

P.S. Waddya know! I did fill the whole page

Seniors '80

'78-'79 Yearbook

my dearest Greg:
I Love You! I really didn't want you to leave. I miss you very much. I'm so sorry for all the problems when you came to visit. I hope you can forgive me. Let's try it again sometime. I promise I'll be better. I hope you are having as good a time there as I am having here. Drill Team is just great. I wish you could be me, I'm proud of myself. I hope you decide to go do it at Bowie. If I had to do it all over again I'd do it. I hope you're happy, as I am. I'll send you a wedding announcement, and you better come. Write soon.
I Love You!
Love,
Shannon

P.S. Hi Dr. Bob!

Greg,
English never was the same after you left, but be kinda glad you did. It got harder!!
Hope you're happy where you are.
Bowie's gonna be great! His year.
Take care. Amy Pierce

Greg,
Well chemistry was fun while it lasted. W/out you
I wouldn't have passed the class! Lotsa luck to you in the future - may all your dreams and expectations
come true. Take it easy
Love Ya,
Nancy

Greg,
Hey! Ya know something?
I miss ya a whole lot. It's just not the same without you here! Write to me soon,
O.K.? I'm thinking about you!
Love Ya,
Sue

Greg,
I really miss you alot. I hope you are doing well.
I hope to see you sometime soon.
Love, #80
Carol

Greg,
Hidy! Hope
you have a great year.
Bye-Bye
Laura
